A rural mail carrier still delivers the human touch

Your recent article regarding our local mail carrier, Ron Emery (Our Town, Dec. 19), was truly refreshing. I first knew Ronnie when he drove the bus that carried players and cheerleaders to "away" football and basketball games about 20 years ago.

What impressed me about him then is the same thing that I admire in him now — he treats people as human beings, and always with that unique sense of humor that anyone who knows him will attest to, I'm sure.

In an oftentimes cold and impersonal world, it is nice to know that you can depend on someone like the rural mail carrier. In Ronnie's case, not only does he deliver the mail, but he delivers some philosophy, a little gossip, and a lot of laughs. I am proud to call Ronnie Emery my friend.
